Hailey got to play with Brady's camera on the airplane and took these snapshots. I didn't include the one she took of me looking up my nose! They were both great on the flight home. She even got a super-sized barf bag from the flight attendant and extra snacks!

My sweet little boy must have smelled the Oklahoma air and finally acknowledge I existed and asked me to hold him. I did fake cry once early in the trip. He gave me kisses and loves but that doesn't count. It was a great trip full of memories!
