Yesterday Hailey told me she didn't want all the snow to melt away so she went out back and collected some to keep in the freezer. Hunter followed her everywhere and did everything she did. He loves hanging out with his big sister.