Today I took the children to the pet store to get some more pet food and bedding. Food and bedding for a hampster lasts a long time. Hailey has been wanting a ball for her pet for awhile now so I finally gave in and got one. She picked out red. Red and silver are her favorite colors. We also picked out another area for her to hang out in. The selection was poor but we did get a school bus. Since Castle Cutie bit me a few days after getting her, I do not have any desire to pet her. My finger still remembers! Occasionally we (Brady and I) call her "The Rat". I get the pleasure of cleaning out the stinky cage but Hailey loves her regardless of if she bites or not. She was so excited to put her in that red ball finally. Hunter was freaking out and all he wanted to do was hold the ball with the animal in it. Castle Cutie was exhausted after awhile so back in her cage she went. On another note, we did find out that they are having ball races with your pet at Petco soon. Hope I remember to take Hailey and Castle Cutie there on October 4th @2:00. She thinks that will be fun!
