

Hailey and Hunter have not been feeling well the past week. Hailey got better faster but has developed a barky cough. Hunter has had a fever for 4 days. He has just wanted to sleep, sleep, sleep! This is his first actual sickness. He has had the runny nose thing a few times but got over them quickly. He is feeling better today and even ate and drank more. As you can tell from the above pictue, Hailey is all smiles but Hunter isn't too happy. His phrase has been "Go away". "Hunter would you like a sip of juice?" "No. Go away!" "Want a cracker?" "No. Go away!" Usually his arm is held out too. You can say about 10 things and the answer is the same. It is actually funny to hear how he says it. He learned "Go away" from Hailey. He likes to be involved with her play and that is usually her response. So we are working on reminding her of a different approach and to share if it is warranted. Anyway, I hope these little guys don't get sick again for a long time. It isn't even flu season!
