

We took Hunter (and Hailey) to see Thomas the Train on Friday morning. Hailey's first big outing was to see Dora the Explorer Live. So when I heard Thomas was in town, I thought he would love this and I am glad Brady ordered us tickets. We all had a really great time! The weather was beautiful and it was wonderful to see his precious smile as he soaked everything in! We rode on the caboose and has the best seats on the train. I am so glad we decided to board when we did or they would have been taken. We climbed a little ladder and got to sit up higher and look out the windows. The scenery wasn't all that great as it was under construction but the kids had fun looking out the windows and hearing the all those train sounds. It was a perfect family outing and we only came away with a giant balloon. Oh, Brady did order Hunter a super cute hat and bandana which was in the mailbox when we came home.
