Papa, Rhonda and her father came to visit us at our home yesterday afternoon. They were on their way back from visiting family and friends in Kansas. It was nice to spend the day with them. Hailey enjoyed seeing her Papa. She got 1,2,3's on the bed, a piggyback ride, The Polar Express story read to her and even managed to remove his socks/shoes and talk him into doing hopscotch with her! She especially enjoyed what Rhonda brought her. Rhonda put together a cute little bag full of sewing supplies. Hailey loves this type of stuff and worked on her projects until about 9:30 and then fell asleep on the couch! Rhonda also made her a really cute poncho. The first thing Hailey did this morning was work on a sewing project and then she went and got dressed and put her poncho on! She gave the kids some savings banks, cups with their names on it and made Hunter an adorable pirate doll. Last night, Hailey told me that she wanted me to try to make a doll like that. Hmmm.... that might take lots of years Hailey! We spent time chatting, watched their DVD of their trip to Mackinac Island and ate a quick dinner together. Thanks for coming and visiting us you guys. Sure love you! Thanks for all the cute things too. They love them!!!
