Oh Miss Hailey Rae! Yesterday I took Hailey in to get her hair cut. She has wanted it shorter for sometime. Her hair needed to be trimmed but I was holding out for after Halloween. I wanted her hair to be longer for those Dorothy ponytails! She had about 3 inches cut off. When I took her in for her first hair cut, I kept some of her hair. Ever since then she has become obsessed with scooping up her hair off the ground and keeping it. Before I had a chance to try to talk her into not picking all of it up, she had it rolled up into a large hairball. I couldn't find a paper towel or something to put it in so I dug in my purse. The only option was a diaper. So in went Hailey's hairball. Have a peek!

