Treasure Hunting in the Desert - November 28, 2008

Written by Camey
Thursday, 04 December 2008 18:00 -

Wait! What is this? BONES! YEAH! YEAH! YEAH!
After exploring for awhile and finding a gravesite on the the mountain, we headed back to the car. We happened upon the remains of a dead animal- most likely a pig. The kids went nuts picking them up and seeing which treasures they were going to keep. Hailey made her selection, which had to be packed up in our suitcase to take home!
Hunter was more interested in piling sand on all the bones. What a great way to end our treasure hunt in the Arizona desert!

