Thanksgiving Day- November 27, 2008

Written by Camey
Thursday, 04 December 2008 18:00 - Last Updated Friday, 05 December 2008 07:21

Our family had Thanksgiving at Tessa's house. This was the first time in forever it seems that we have been all together as a family. We ate lots of yummy food and enjoyed some delicious desserts. The children sat at a kid's table. I remember sitting at one growing up and loving it. Hailey even made it through dinner without getting sick. For the past few years, if we or someone else gives her some food she does not want to try, she gets sick. She has a horrible gag reflex. This year she had a roll and jello and I didn't care! She did have a PB sandwich prior to dinner though. Little Caleb fell asleep prior to dinner and he looked so sweet just resting there before dinner was served. My brother and sister did a great job of feeding our small army. Thanks everyone! My favorite foods at Thanksgiving are the turkey, sweet potatoes and lemon pie. Lemon pie is also my dad's favorite. My grandmother made the best lemon pie every year. So it has become a tradition to have one at this meal. I also like the picture I took of my dad above. He has a cute smile going on!

After dinner, Daenon deboned the turkey- yummy! Some rested but all the children had a great time playing in the backyard on the trampoline or on the Wii. They also did crafts with Rhonda and played Christmas bingo. We walked down to the park and took another family photo of us all in our reunion t-shirts. Had to get a better one! Then Papa read the Christmas story to us all and we ate dessert, my favorite part! It was a good long day.