

Brady helped show Hunter his few ornaments in his box. Hunter wasn't too crazy at first to put them on the tree. After all they are so pretty! He did finally understand that we were putting them on the tree and keeping them there. Later on he did wind up breaking a glass ball on the stool and it shattered into a million pieces. Earlier he was banging the ball against other balls on the tree just for fun but I encouraged him to stop. Interesting thing is that Hailey broke a glass ball last year in the same manner.

These are my cute moving reindeer my mother gave me years ago. I think everyone in the family got deer one year! The lights on the tree are my attempt to satisfy Hailey. She told me she wished we had lights on our house. Next year Hailey I will find some lights I like on clearance. I will start early and try my best. I did put a string of lights in the atrium and decorate the house. Does that count? We have never had lights on our house since we have been married. So I will do my best and shoot for it next year for the kids.
