Grammy gave Hailey a Bitty Baby a few years ago from American Girl. She loves dressing and playing with dolls. Now that Hailey is getting older, Grammy bought her Mia. She is supposedly intended for girls 8 and up but you can get the older girl dolls that look just like you. Mia has red hair and is being retired by the end of 2008. So Hailey is ONE VERY LUCKY GIRL because I think Grammy ordered every last Mia accessories that belonged to her series. She plans to spread out the items over the years. I told Fran earlier that since Mia was a special doll, I thought she should give it to her in private. So she took Hailey aside on Christmas Eve and gave it to her. The next day she gave her a change of clothes and the very cool skating rink that goes with Mia. I already know Hailey loves it and will love it for years. You never outgrow a love for dolls! Thanks for the special gift to my daughter Grammy!
