Brady keeps a stash of his cd's/dvd's/dvr's or whatever they are called underneath his desk. Since Hunter has been able to crawl, he has loved to play with these containers. This week I was busy at the computer (probably doing absolutely nothing) and I looked over and found him stacking them up in tower form. He was so proud of himself!

