Today is our Wedding Anniversary. We have been married for 8 years. That number sounds very wierd to me today. After dating 12 years
, we got married on February 12th, 2000 (at 2:12 we would like to think!). I haven't really truly felt old until recently. All these numbers seem to be adding up! Time is flying by and I feel like I have not accomplished much. But I am happy to be married though and I love my hubby very much!
