Hunter loves machinery. He spots "diggers" when we are out and about driving. Smokey gave Hunter two new "diggers" and he loves them. When he first started to play with it, he told me he need a man. I found one in the dollhouse to appease him. Diggers don't drive themselves now do they! Once Hailey tried to see all about it and she got an ear full from him. One of the trucks even came apart. This stressed Hunter out at first as Brady was inspecting it. He told him he broke it and wanted it fixed back like it was! Diggers are next in line to trains. He still loves those too.

Thanks for the new toys and getting him set up!

* Check out where Hunter is sizing up Smokey's hat. He finally takes it off!
