This morning the kids and I went out and picked some strawberries in our strawberry patch so they will keep producing more delicious treats! Hunter is a strawberry monster. He could not wait for them to be washed. I think he ate more than 10 and snacked on more at lunch time! I am so happy that he loves these yummy red fruits. Now if we can only talk Miss Hailey Rae into enjoying them...

* If my flash was not on my strawberry pictures might have come out a little bit better. I was trying to get one up close on macro!
