This next area reminded us all of Ice Age. It definitely looked like snow and ice. I am sure viewing this place in the winter isn't as spectacular either. You wouldn't be able to see the contrast of color! It was overcast in the distance and made the area look even better. It is also one of my favorite Yellowstone spots.

This is the view from the road and this large upright rock was nearby.

