Pinwheel was a really large site that required a lot of walking to see the areas. Hunter was napping so I opted to stay behind. Jennifer and Kimber hung out with me until he woke up and then we went on our trek. I wish I would have brought the stroller along on this one because I had no idea it would have covered so many areas. Carrying a waking up child for a bit gets tiresome but I lived.

Bill ady took pictures of us from way up on the hill after it erupted and we departed back up the