Hailey started Kindergarten today! She has an afternoon Kindergarten class so sleeping in is still an option for her and us. After she ate her breakfast, I painted her piggies pink and then sent her to the bath to make sure she was nice and clean. She watched some morning television and then we got dressed. Then we took a few photos on the porch and headed out for her big day. I had butterflies. She did not. Yesterday she made me a special necklace to wear so I would remember her while she was gone. This morning I wrote her a little message on a paper heart and she put it in her pocket. Sometimes she is extra sweet.

It rained almost all night and was still raining when we left so she got to wear her raincoat!

HRT
-K-
Mrs. Crouch

OUR JOBS
Mrs. Crouch

Waiting in the parent pick up line.

[video http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4rZWpxb-V-g 500x500]