Hailey's Halloween costume arrived in the mail today. Can you guess what she wants to be? Tessa- you can't guess because you know already!

When we were browsing a catalog that came in the mail a few weeks ago, she decided originally that she wanted to be this: The Tin Man!

I was fine with that but was dreading the face paint she wanted to have to complete the look.

Then we looked online and she saw this: A Sleestak!

She loved this Sleestak costume from the Land of the Lost. She loves watching that show.

Then we came across what came in the mail today. It is a favorite character of hers. I am happy with her final choice. Not sure if they can wear costumes to school or not for fun but I know those will be kinda odd at school but then again I don't really care that much. These characters do make her happy. She passed up all the girly costumes but did think this one "nice" witch costume was pretty cool. The dress had lights in it. I liked it too.

Hunter is going to be a pirate. My mother in law gave me some dress up clothes last year and it fits him just fine. So we are all set. I love getting ready before the mad rush reaches stores.

SO CAN YOU GUESS WHAT SHE WANTS TO BE?
