

The Tumblebus Party

Written by Camey

Sunday, 08 November 2009 21:07 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 November 2009 20:47

Hailey's 6th birthday party was on Saturday, the day before her actual birthday. We made some invitations last week and sent some to school and church. She loves the idea of a party because she loves having friends over to her house. Every year that we have had a party, I have centered it around what she is interested in or loves at the time. This year she knew she was having a party but I had something else up my sleeve. I saw an advertisement in a magazine for the OK Tumblebus. She loves going to gymnastics weekly and I loved the idea of a self contained party in a bus. So it was a complete surprise to her when it showed up at our house. She had been invited to a party prior to hers and still didn't catch on to the surprise even though it was mentioned. A sweet little girl in her class at church was also born on the 8th. This year I failed to call and plan ahead but in the end it worked out having our parties back to back!

Here she is peeking out the front window...

The Tumblebus Party

Written by Camey

Sunday, 08 November 2009 21:07 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 November 2009 20:47

The Tumblebus Party is a fun and exciting event for children of all ages. It is held at the Tumblebus Centre in London. The party is held on a specially designed bus which is filled with colorful decorations and toys. Children can play with colorful balls, jump on a trampoline, and play on a slide. There is also a large screen where children can watch a video of the Tumblebus. The party is held on a Sunday afternoon and is free of charge. For more information, please visit the Tumblebus website.

The Tumblebus Party

Written by Camey

Sunday, 08 November 2009 21:07 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 November 2009 20:47

The Tumblebus Party

Written by Camey

Sunday, 08 November 2009 21:07 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 November 2009 20:47

cake is the whole gang before going inside for a well needed drink and then birthday

The Tumblebus Party

Written by Camey

Sunday, 08 November 2009 21:07 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 November 2009 20:47

GOODBYE TUMBLEBUS!

The Tumblebus Party

Written by Camey

Sunday, 08 November 2009 21:07 - Last Updated Sunday, 08 November 2009 20:47

