Hailey loves to write notes and make things. Last night she sat at her desk and decided she was going to write a story on her laptop. I love that she loves to write and it is so fun to see her progress as she learns new words and skills. I printed it off and had her illustrate it for me!

Translation:

The princess got captured by a pirate. Someone, a prince, saved the princess and they lived happily ever after.