About a month ago, Hunter started to get into robots. Then we re-watched all the Toy Story movies just a few times. Then Brady took the kids to browse the endless Toy Story toy aisle at Walmart. Hunter wound up getting Buzz. The one that looks just like the one in the movie. After you get over the price of the sucker, it is definitely worth it. It really is fun to play with! Hailey chose 3 of the characters in smaller versions. I love that she claimed them like Andy did. Her initials are on her own toys now. So cute!

Yesterday we took them to see Toy Story 3. I thought it was very well done and is a must see!

[illegible] really does transform into a spaceship! It is hanging out

