Last Saturday we took the children to the Pumpkin Patch. It was cloudy, cooler and a little bit windy. Probably shouldn't have had Hunter out in it but the pumpkin patch is a tradition in my book. We were on the edge of a rain storm the whole time we visited. The kids loved it and we timed it right as the rain decided to fall just as we were on our way to the truck to leave!

The hay bale maze was a hit. Hailey cracks me up at how excited she gets over mazes.

Hunter went and checked out the tractor while Hailey played on the hay bales. I didn't think Hunter needed to have anything more irritating his lungs. Miss Hailey had a blast climbing and jumping on the hay. I love to do that too!

[illegible] not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

I like this one of Hailey. She is in her natural state and content.

The Family with their pumpkins!

