

The H's woke up to new stuffed animal friends, chocolates, candy and the latest Treasure Buddies movie they have been wanting to see. I love their cute smiles and bed hair looks in the morning.

Hunter and I met up with Hailey at her class party. I like how she instantly lights up once she sees family. Makes me feel good. This year her valentines from classmates rocked. So many cute homemade ones but ALL came with candy. It's the new thing. Hailey let Hunter sit in her chair and she sat off to the side in another. Next year he will get to participate in all the fun too! They came home and put in their new movie. I catnapped in the rocking chair and I heard many giggles. Animal movies are a big hit in the H's world right now.

We met up with Brady and ate some dinner and had some ice cream for dessert. Then we came home and opened up Valentines from Grammy and Smokey. Hunter liked his new train set and Hailey enjoyed putting together some candy bracelets. I love my sweet little H's. Hope you know how much you are loved because you ARE!!!
