I made a green breakfast for the family for a bit of yearly fun. I didn't torture my children by turning their eggs green as my dad did when I was young. I miss that though. I have done it in the past. Even Grayson enjoyed some green potatoes for dinner. Hunter was a pickle and opted for cereal in a green bowl. No fun. Everyone wore a spot of green but I think baby G was absolutely adorable in his outfit.

